

Safety Policy Review Report

An illustrative example of review observations, priority levels, and recommended actions.

Important note

This sample is fictional and provided for demonstration only. It is not a review of a real organization, does not assess legal or regulatory compliance, and is not legal advice.

01 / Example observations

High priority — A procedure refers to a role that is not clearly defined elsewhere in the reviewed documents. Example action: confirm role ownership and align terminology across related documents.

Medium priority — Two documents appear to describe the same reporting step using different wording. Example action: reconcile wording and identify the authoritative procedure.

Low priority — Document control details are not presented consistently. Example action: consider a common version, approval, and review-date format.

02 / Suggested report structure

A full report may identify the agreed scope and limitations, list documents reviewed, record concise observations, recommend practical actions, and provide an action tracker with owners and due dates where agreed.

Scope reminder

A policy review is one input to a broader safety management system. It does not replace site inspections, worker consultation, training, hazard assessment, legal advice, or other duties that may apply.
